

The UT One Health Initiative presents

Saving Our Planet, One Steak at a Time

Connecting Soils, Grasslands, Cattle, and Biodiversity

A virtual seminar with

Pat Keyser, PhD

Director,
Center for Native
Grasslands Management

Thursday, April 25

12:00 - 1:00pm EST

Register via Zoom at tiny.utk.edu/PatKeyser

This seminar series, presented by the UT One Health Initiative, brings together speakers from across UT, the nation, and world to discuss their work and how they tackle global health challenges.

From decreased biodiversity to increased anti-microbial resistance, the health of all living organisms is affected by the health of others. This series will explore how solutions can be achieved by viewing these problems through a One Health lens.

For upcoming seminar details, visit onehealth.tennessee.edu/seminars, or contact us at onehealth@utk.edu.

ONE HEALTH INITIATIVE

